The last feast before home-time, A moment of togetherness, sublime. Memories shared over a meal, a cherished rhyme.

Feeling my ears and my head warm up in the soft morning sun,
Nature's gentle touch, a comforting embrace that's second to none.
A tranquil moment, the day's journey about to be begun.

Helping Miss with the notebooks, a task of pride,
Sorting and organizing, standing side by side.
A moment of camaraderie, lending a helping hand, far and wide.

Being the bearer of good news: “FREE PERIOD!”,
Faces light up with joy, excitement stirring every chord.
A moment of liberation, time to relax and explore unexplored.

Smiling and smiling for future us,
Embracing the present, the possibilities discussed.
School memories cherished, our dreams entrust.

When the classrooms all rang with an “Oooooohhhhh!”,
A moment of awe, wonder unleashed, a brilliant glow.
Curiosity sparked, knowledge’s seeds sowed.

That one teacher who always told us stories during class,
Captivating our minds, imagination's hourglass.
Inspiring lessons woven in narratives, memories to amass.

Unlocking puppy-dog-eyes for picnic permission,
Hoping for a nod, a joyful admission.
A day of laughter and fun, a treasured tradition.

Gearing up for the drill was a thrill in itself,
Emergency preparedness, a vital wealth.
Heart pounding, adrenaline felt, a moment of stealth.

Enjoying my older sibling's expertise in the smallest of matters,
Their guidance and knowledge, like a ladder.
Through sibling bonds, school memories only grow fatter.

“List of Talkative Students”,
Names that filled the classroom with vibrant currents.
Laughter and chatter, a symphony of lively torrents.

Grass touch,
Barefoot freedom meant so much.
Nature's caress, a simple and gentle clutch.

Sitting it out during P.T. exercises,
Observing with a mix of envy and surprises.
A momentary break, rest for tired muscles' compromises.

Putting my hand up, because for once, I knew the answer,
Confidence soaring, like a proud dancer.
A moment of triumph, a memory to forever treasure.

More precious than rubies,
School memories, the priceless treasures we seize.
Moments that etch our hearts with joy and ease.
